

Name : Shenehashis Dutta | Ad Analysis for ideation -

♦ VIDEO 1 ANALYSIS

Link:  Hindi 20 secs 'Har Maa jaanti hain ki Har paani ki bottle Bisleri nahi'

Caption

"Har Maa Jaanti Hai Har Paani Ki Bottle Bisleri Nahin"

This line emotionally connects motherly care with trust, positioning Bisleri as the safest choice.

Thumbnail Analysis

Color:

Greenish-blue tone used — matches Bisleri's signature brand color, reinforcing brand recall and freshness.

Visibility:

Caption placed at the top-left with the brand logo beneath it, ensuring immediate brand identification.

Event Highlight:

"Celebrating 50 Years of Trust" — adds credibility and legacy value.

Visual Elements:

Two camels in a desert background (Rajasthan theme).

One Bisleri jar is placed on a platform/table.

One camel is drinking from the jar.

A PET water bottle highlighted with a ₹10 price tag.

Symbolism:

Desert + camels = water scarcity

Bisleri bottle = safe, reliable solution

₹10 bottle = affordability + accessibility

Objective / Reason

The primary objective is Brand Awareness. Reinforces Bisleri as a trusted household name across generations.

Creative Idea / Plot

The story is set in a deserted region.

A camel mother and her offspring are shown.

The young camel tries to drink from a dirty/open water tank.

The mother stops it and instead finds a Bisleri bottle from a nearby tent.

She allows the child to drink from Bisleri, symbolizing motherly instinct, purity, and protection.

The ad ends with the line "Piyo Bisleri" and the main caption.

Insight:

Bisleri compares itself with a mother's instinct to protect, which creates deep emotional trust rather than just logical trust.

CTA (Call to Action)

Since the ad is awareness-driven, no direct CTA is used.

However, the ₹10 bottle highlight acts as a soft CTA, subtly pushing for trial purchase.

♦ VIDEO 2 ANALYSIS

Link: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tuc7suM3yBI>

▶ 'Samajhdaar Jaante Hain Har Paani Ki Bottle Bisleri Nahin'- Hindi 30 Sec

Caption

"Samajhdaar Jaante Hain Har Paani Ki Bottle Bisleri Nahin"

This line targets the intelligent decision-maker, suggesting that smart people choose Bisleri.

Thumbnail Analysis

Color:

Greenish-blue tone continues for brand consistency and freshness appeal.

Visibility:

Caption placed at the top mid-right with the logo beneath it — clear and readable.

Visual Elements:

One camel and one old Rajasthani man in a desert setting.

Both are shown drinking from Bisleri bottles.

Objects Used:

Desert background

Camel

Old man

Two Bisleri bottles

Highlighted PET bottle

Psychology Used:

The old man symbolizes experience and wisdom, reinforcing trust + smart choice for the thumbnail.

Objective / Reason

The main objective remains Brand Awareness.

Strengthens the belief that Bisleri = Intelligent Choice for safe water.

Creative Idea / Plot

The scene starts in a desert area near a ration shop.

Two camels arrive and ask for Bisleri.

The shopkeeper gives them ordinary water bottles.

One camel drinks the water, immediately spits it out, and mocks the shopkeeper by saying:

"Ooth hain, gadhe nahin"

The other camel confidently asks again for Bisleri only.

The ad ends with the caption and the iconic line:

"Piyo Bisleri"

Insight:

Bisleri positions itself as a symbol of intelligence and smart selection, not just purity.

CTA (Call to Action)

No aggressive CTA is used due to the awareness-based nature.

The highlighted PET bottle acts as a visual product reminder, encouraging recall at the point of purchase.

♦ VIDEO 3 ANALYSIS (IKEA)

Link: <https://www.facebook.com/reel/24884825061176433>

Caption

“Start something new.”

This line encourages small yet meaningful change, promoting the idea that stepping out of one’s comfort zone is a smart and positive life choice. IKEA positions itself as a brand that supports new beginnings and personal transformation.

Visibility:

Multiple real-life scenes are used to show everyday environments where Ikea products fit naturally.

Caption placed at the end of the video with the logo beside it — clear and readable.
reveal of the brand identity without early interruption of storytelling

Visual Elements:

An old man goes through every kind of situation possible with his chair and sits on it comfortably.

Objects Used:

An Old man

A red chair

His decision to embrace something new reflects human adaptability and openness, reinforcing Ikea as a brand for people of all ages and life stages.

Highlight an IKEA center at the end

Psychology Used:

The old man symbolizes experience and wisdom, reinforcing trust & smart choice.

Objective / Reason

The main objective remains Brand Awareness.

Strengthens the belief that Ikea is equal to Intelligent Choice for products.

Creative Idea / Plot

The story begins in a park where an old man sits daily to feed birds from a public bench.

One day, his usual sitting place is no longer available.

Instead of giving up his routine, he buys a chair and starts carrying it with him wherever he goes. He continues his habit of sitting peacefully in different locations using his own chair.

The ad ends with the caption and the iconic line: “Start something new.”

Insight:

The campaign communicates that:

Change does not need to be big.

Even small decisions can create comfort, confidence, and continuity.

IKEA enables people to adapt smoothly to changing life situations.

CTA (Call to Action)

No aggressive CTA is used due to the awareness-based nature.

The highlighted Ikea Store acts as a visual product reminder, encouraging recall at the point of purchase and emotional connection.

♦ Poster Ad 1 ANALYSIS (Mio Amore)

Link: Mio Amore Poster

Caption: “Sweet Treats Come with a Bonus”

The caption triggers reward psychology, encouraging customers to buy more to receive the bonus.

Seasonal caption:

“Season of Joy”

Visibility: Use of multiple objects - A yellow jute bag placed at the center, with its contents visible

Two cake packets with clear Mio Amore branding

The products are kept front-facing, ensuring maximum brand and product recognition even from a distance.

Color Analysis:

Background: Light shades of pink and purple create a soft, festive, joyful mood

Pop Color: Yellow used on the bag and typography — creates a strong contrast and draws instant attention

Visual Elements:

Christmas decorations: Trees, lights, ornaments, Cake used as the base for the bag

A bag, two cake boxes, cake on the base, Christmas tree decorations with lights.

Logo and season-specific caption “Season of Joy” which resembles Kolkata's “City of Joy”.

Psychology Used:

Pink & Purple mean Happiness, celebration, and sweetness

Yellow means Excitement, attraction, urgency

- Festive Buying Behavior: People emotionally spend more during festivals.
- Free Gift Trigger: The free jute bag activates the “get more for the same money” mindset.

Objective / Reason:

Brand & Product Awareness

Boost Festival Sales

The objective of the free jute bag is to be used as a purchase accelerator, not just a branding element.

Insight

The campaign smartly combines:

Festive emotion, Food indulgence

Free utility product (bag) to transform a normal bakery purchase into a festival gifting experience.

Creative Idea / Plot

Creative plot here is the jute bag free with their legacy product cake

CTA (Call to Action)

The pop-up which says Free Bag, is CTA here, which will make customers buy the specific products for the free bag, as it creates urgency.